

Jomon people live with nature

Jomon people are considered that they had observed their surrounding nature in order to obtain the things they needed, more carefully than us living in the modern life. Various artifacts worked as the tools show their keenness and their accumulated experiences.

