

Wide distribution of the goods

Jomon people transported the goods and materials that were made or yielded at another “far away” regions.

For example, they transported jade which yielded at the area along the Itoigawa river in Niigata prefecture approximately over 100km away from this Chino city, without any cart but by their own foot or boat (Jomon people had never invented the wheel). Not only jade, but also the obsidian, amber and even pottery.
